Dear Sir or Madam

Today we are happy to welcome a new member to our actuvie family: Deloitte is actuvie’s newest Content Partner. Read on to learn more about Deloitte’s contributions.
In addition, this newsletter includes new details on the program for the upcoming Asian Actuarial Conference in Singapore, and the International Actuarial Association Health Section provides some recommendations for content that may be of interest to actuaries in the field of health insurance.

Welcome to a new member of the actuvie family: Deloitte

We are pleased to announce that Deloitte has joined actuvie as a Content Partner. From now on Deloitte will be contributing videos to the platform on a regular basis to make its knowledge and insights into the industry’s hot topics available to the ever-growing actuvie community.

“As the leading actuarial practice of the global Big Four audit and consulting companies we at Deloitte are pleased to support actuvie as a Content Partner. As a global consultant, we will constantly update our channel with contributions on the latest topics of the industry as well as interesting insights from our experts in all actuarial areas.”

Now online: “Chess and Underwriting”
Presented by Jeff Heaton, Ph.D., FLMI
Vice President, Data Science, RGA

In this video, RGA’s Jeff Heaton discusses advances in AI that have been applied by Google to master the game of chess using simulated data, and how this technology can support life insurance underwriting. He describes ways in which big data effectively supports actuarial functions, and the challenges of relying on simulated data alone to model real-
Video recommendations by IAAHS

The IAAHS, created in 2003, promotes and facilitates international exchange of views, advice, research and practical information among actuaries involved with public and private health issues. These issues are divided into eight Topic Teams, which members may join to access libraries containing papers, presentations and other web-based content pertaining to the specific topic, and to participate in a forum for exchanging information.

Adrian Baskir, chair of the HEALTH Section, has chosen five videos especially interesting for actuaries working in the field of health insurance:

“Insurance in the 2020’s: The Potential Impact of Technological and Medical Advances on the Industry”
Jan-Hendrik Erasmus (CRO FORUM)

“Impact of Improved Lifestyle on Management of Chronic Disease – Can Type 2 Diabetes Be Reversed?”
Sarah Bennett (South Africa) and Tim Noakes (South Africa)

“Pre-funding of Healthcare Benefits After Retirement”
Ibrahim Muhanna (Lebanon)

“Anti-selection in Health Insurance”
Roseanne Harris (South Africa)

Dare 2 Share – Curaçao hosts The CAA’s 29th Annual Conference

The event runs from 4-6 December, 2019, at the new Santa Barbara Beach & Golf Resort in Curaçao. The Caribbean Actuarial Association’s conference is a significant actuarial meeting held annually, and for the first time Curaçao will host the event.

The theme of this year’s conference is “Dare to Share”. The Caribbean region is a melting pot of different cultures and perspectives, and the event brings together delegates from the Caribbean, North America, Latin America and Europe. Attendees will ‘dare’ to share their knowledge, insights and expertise on challenging issues.

For more information about the conference and to register, please visit the CAA website.
